Reading

Try reading a sonnet or short extract of a play written by William Shakespeare; copy a few lines of Shakespeare in your best handwriting and add an illustration; look carefully at paintings and portraits from the Tudor period, try to 'read' the information shown in the picture.

Doing

Use a computer to find out about life in Tudor times on the V&A website www.tudorbritain.org; make a pomander to sweeten the air; design and make a knot garden on a plate; make detailed observational drawings of a rose; use collage materials, wood or clay to make household items for a model house; learn to play card games; have a go at weaving willow branches or creating a piece of embroidery.

Visiting

Visit Southsea Castle or the new Mary Rose Museum in Portsmouth; see the magnificent Tudor Panel Paintings by Lambert Barnard in Chichester Cathedral; walk through Midhurst town centre and search for original Tudor buildings; see paintings of British monarchs at the National Portrait Gallery, London; visit the Globe Theatre or Hampton Court Palace; visit Arundel Castle.

We will enrich our Learning with:

- An interview with a Tudor nobleman
- Learning Tudor strategy games
